Jabra Video Solutions Portfolio Guide

START

We used to start meetings with a handshake. Today we start with an on-screen hello

Jabra as a video brand

At Jabra, we have 150 years of experience developing technology that brings people closer together. You may know us from our world-leading professional audio solutions, which range from premium office headsets, to innovative speakerphones, to consumer true wireless earbuds, and more.

With the move to flexible working, video meetings offer a more efficient way to collaborate. Which is why these days, we create, award-winning video solutions too.

Innovation front and center

We've made it our mission to reinvent your video experience with our cutting-edge range of PanaCast video solutions that feature the very latest 4K AI-based video technology along with our outstanding audio engineering.

From our unique 180° field-of-view that enables everyone in the room to be clearly seen without any distortion; to our AI-enabled intelligent features that automatically follow the action of a meeting and help reduce virtual fatigue; to inclusive meeting experiences that make everyone feel equal no matter where they call in from, our PanaCast solutions are intelligently engineered to make hybrid working work.

Don't just take our word for it

PanaCast video solutions are enabling effective collaboration and making a real difference to how dispersed teams work together.

We make a point of working closely with leading collaboration platform partners to ensure a seamless user experience. That's why our solutions are extensively tested and certified for Microsoft Teams, Microsoft Teams Rooms, Zoom and Zoom Rooms*. So you can be confident of effective and reliable meetings from the minute you hit 'Join.'

We can't replace the real-life handshake. But we come real close.

It's video collaboration. Reinvented.

Why Jabra

We're Jabra and we've been engineering technology that makes life look and sound better for over 150 years. So we know to bring people closer, technology must deliver a more natural and inclusive experience. There's nothing like being together in the same room, but video collaboration is the next best thing. We also know that feeling comfortable and being ourselves on video is the key to effective remote working. Presenting on video from your home office in Toronto? Talking your customers through the latest business plan from a Tokyo board room? Whatever you've got going on, we've got you. We call it video collaboration, reinvented with our advanced, intelligent video and superior audio technology. All designed to bring hybrid work and life together in perfect harmony.

Jabra. Technology for life's new rhythm.
